SigniaDocs & World Wide Notary

-Create partnership to support legal eNotarization process –

HOUSTON, TX, January 8th, 2009 – SigniaDocs and World Wide Notary have integrated their platforms to support a complete eSignable eNotary process for any document or document set. “We are very excited about this because we are one of the first to truly support this in the industry.” states Tim Anderson, SigniaDocs President. “Adoption of eMortgages has been slow because borrowers do not want to do some documents electronic and still have to paper out and ink sign the notary documents.” This has been referred to as a “hybrid” eMortgage because most systems today still do not support eNotary. “Now we can virtually keep all the documents and process totally paperless and deliver the same customer experience to the borrower from eDisclosure to eClosing.” For jurisdictions that support eRecording you never have to paper out any documents and the legal version can be retained in a secure eVault indefinitely for future reference, actions and audit verification.

“World Wide Notary and SigniaDocs share the vision of making eMortgages a reality and have invested in the technology to provide seamless processes for the end user while reducing costs, increasing compliance and enhancing the overall customer experience.” says Bob Rice, CEO for World Wide Notary. “Our latest release also supports the ability for mobile notaries to go virtually anywhere to digitally sign documents in an offline environment and then upload them later so they don’t need internet access. Talk about delivering a superior competitive advantage and customer service” she states.
